

LIST OF FIGURES

1. Location of Tahltan territories	9
2. Clan territories and Tahltan tribal boundaries	10
3. Historic settlements and routes in the Stikine area 1900	18
4. Physiographic areas in northwestern British Columbia	22
5. Comparisons of temperatures and precipitation at Telegraph Creek and Cold Fish Lake	26
6. Location of barriers impassable to salmon within the Stikine watershed	38
7. Snare with tossing pole used for rabbits	44
8. Bone swivel and rattle used at the end of beaver net	45
9. Deadfall trap used for carnivores	45
10. Tahltan bow with antler point	46
11. Attachment of point to arrow shafts	47
12. Blunt headed arrow for birds and small game	47
13. Bone skinning knife	48
14. Split beaver hanging to dry over the campfire	49
15. Bone awl used in sewing	51
16. Bone scrapers for defleshing and scraping hides	52
17. Beamer for removing hair from large hides	53
18. Scraping frozen hides	54
19. Wringing the hide	55
20. Hafted stone tools used for dressing hides	56
21. Dressing the stretched hide	56
22. Hide smoking frame and pit	57
23. Flaking the hide dressing stone	59
24. Two types of hide dressing stones	59
25. Cylindrical basket trap used for salmon	60
26. Gaffing salmon in shallow waters	61
27. Gaff pole with detachable hook	61
28. Dip net used in fishing	62
29. Three pronged spear used for ice fishing	62
30. Splitting salmon on the A-frame cutting board	63
31. Scored salmon hanging to dry	64
32. Bundling dried salmon for storage	64
33. Reconstruction of knife with obsidian flakes	65
34. Stone axe used for chopping trees	69
35. Curved knife with beaver incisor	69
36. Straight bladed knife	69
37. Traditional style smokehouse at Tahltan-Stikine confluence	71
38. New smokehouse at a contemporary fishing camp	73
39. Gravehouse at Telegraph Creek	75
40. Dog houses built into a slope	75
41. Roasting meat over the campfire	76
42. Flat mortar stone used for breaking marrow bones and pounding dried fish and meat	77
43. Carved spoon of sheep horn	77
44. Cache pit used for storing dried foods	78
45. Chart indicating seasonal abundance/availability of resources	84
46. Salmon fishing villages in Tahltan territories	85
47. Salmon fishing villages on the Stikine River system	85

48.	Schematic representation of major seasonal moves and settlement locations	89
49.	Approximate location of several winter villages and caribou fences	90
50.	Floorplan of smokehouse No. 1	101
51.	Floorplan of smokehouse No. 4	101
52.	Floorplan of smokehouse remains A2	101
53.	Floorplan of smokehouse remains A2	101

LIST OF TABLES

1.	Alternate Names Used in Reference to Tahltan Clans or Families	11
2.	Hours of Direct Sunlight	24
3.	Fish Species Occurring in Study Area	37
4.	Average Catches of Stikine Salmon by Alaskan Gillnet Fisheries	39
5.	Estimates of Exploitation and Abundance of Stikine River Sockeye 1959 to 1980	40
6.	Uses and Relative Value of Raw Materials Provided by Animal Resources	50
7.	Measurements of Several Stone Hide Working Tools (mm)	58
8.	Tahltan Fish Camp/Smokehouse Survey	72
9.	Average Daily Requirements of Proteins, Vitamins, Minerals	80
10.	Calculation of Average Caloric Values for Individual Resources	81
11.	Tahltan Divisions of the Year	83
12.	Salmon Fishing Villages in Tahltan Territories	86
13.	Behavioral Chain Model for Salmon	100
14.	Archaeological Correlates of Seasonal Subsistence Strategies	104